Description
If I create a doc and want to invite a friend, I click on the (+) symbol and it asks me to type username. This has several inconveniences: <ul style="list-style-type: none">- I might know the name of the person (Rana García) but not know her username (renita)- As I can add any username (not just my buddies) I might miss-spell the username and add someone else. E.g. I add "rana" thinking its her username... and another person is added
Solution: Implement the same scroll list that has the search bar, but just for users (filtering out the groups). Optimally, prioritizing buddies in the list, as stated in issue #189 and its comments: http://kune.ourproject.org/issues/ticket/189

For now this is not straightforward. Furthermore, currently this part of the WIAB code is changing so we have to wait. Until that, this new functionality facilitate a lot the adding and sharing of contents via drag & drop:
